Best Of Auctions April 2023

Three auction houses - 5 auctions

The Eppli experts have selected special pieces for this auction over many months.

Expert days at our cooperation partners "Wempe Jewelers" and the luxury department store "Breuninger"

Our experts were on the road in numerous cities, from Berlin to Hanover to Freiburg, and were able to acquire these outstanding objects for our April auctions.

Auction preview

This catalog presents a selection of our highlight pieces. All auction lots can be found with photos on our homepage www.eppli.com. Additionally, you can view items on-site in our stores.

The auctions

On-site participation is possible at all auctions in the various auction houses. Likewise, our auctions are broadcast in real time via our website www.eppli.com and our live bid system. You can participate from anywhere in the world!

Don't buy - invest!

Physical assets are currently making a strong comeback. Bankers and investment advisors recognize the value of investing in high-end luxury items. Watches, jewelry, coins and art are no longer hobby purchases, but are a widely acknowledged legitimate investment.

All prices include buyer's premium!

We appreciate not only values, but also transparency and clear rules. That is why both the call price and the hammer price with us are always the price you pay - no hidden fees!

We hope you enjoy reading and wish you success in your bidding.

Jewelry & Gemstones
Auktionshaus Eppli am Markt

Every 1st Saturday of the month auction with live broadcast.
Preview of the objects possible.

Every first Saturday of the month our Bärenstraße location is bustling with activity, with a crowd drawn to our storefront displays. Two weeks before the auction, this window – as well as the auction area – is decorated with several hundred objects that draw the attention of passers-by and visitors. Two weeks after the auction, hundreds of new objects are displayed for the next auction. The constantly changing assortment with a unique variety of beautiful pieces captivates all who pass by – and our open sale display does the same. Designs and zeitgeist of the past decades can be purchased here, but also reworked in the in-house Eppli goldsmith master workshop.

Below you will find a small excerpt of the highlights from the upcoming Best Of Auction. You can discover the entire catalog on our website at www.eppli.com.

Casanova

Extremely rare letter from the famous adventurer and writer Giacomo Casanova (1725 - 1798)

Dated 3.1.1791 Dux in Bohemia to Count Antonio Ottavio Collalto (1719 - 1793). Autographs of Giacomo Casanova, who became famous for numerous love affairs, but also for his spectacular escape from the lead chambers of Venice, are tremendously rare! Casanova was able to work at Dux Castle in Bohemia after 1785. A little later he also began to write his memoirs there. Casanova died at Dux Castle in Bohemia on 4.6.1798.

The letter has 3 pages, it is a double sheet with watermark and gilt edges. The letter in Italian is fully transcribed and there is a certificate of authenticity from the company Eberhard Köstler Autographen & Bücher oHG Tutzing. In the letter Casanova wishes Her Excellency "all the graces for the New Year that he desires from God. May all heavenly blessings rain down on him and his entire family." He describes the cold weather that has lasted for eight days at Dux Castle and that he stays in his warm room. In order not to get sick, he resisted all temptations not to go to a ball full of beautiful girls. He goes on to tell of an acquaintance with a woman from Cremona who confided in him about her pregnancy, although she had not seen her husband for two years. He would have advised her the next day to feign an eye disease to her husband and not to regain her sight until after the birth, only to see her husband again then. Casanova digresses with this story to make Collalto laugh. In the letter, Casanova expresses regret over the death of Francesco Foscari and other men, and that the Republic of Venice is not good to its great men. "Now the most illustrious Venetian college (if I dare say so) is sick of great men. There are young men who show promise, but it takes years." He concludes by telling God to protect the Republic, and signs off in deepest reverence as Servant Casanova. Appropriate signs of age and use.

Katharina A. M. Eppli, Gabriele M. Eppli

We appreciate values

A corporate philosophy in the double sense

As an auction house, we not only value the current market value of a wide variety of items, but rather moral and human values such as trust and reliability are part of the foundation and deep conviction of our daily work.

Second-hand luxury goods in particular are currently experiencing an unprecedented boom: individualists and collectors, but also investors, are finding the individually suitable object on the vintage market. In addition to their uniqueness, pre-owned luxury items such as designer fashion, jewelry and watches also score points for sustainability, as they feature particularly high material quality and workmanship. In addition to the many years of use of these exclusive objects, they gain even more appeal and value over time, making them an investment and coveted collector's item.

Preserving values and creating new values is what drives us. Our owner-managed family business with over 45 years of tradition now has more than seventy highly motivated employees.

Spread over three auction houses and a total of nine locations with different focuses, the hammer is swung five times a month at the Eppli company. We appraise, value, buy, sell, and auction well over 30,000 items annually – all from private ownership. Our main focal points are jewelry, watches, designer fashion, bags and luxury accessories as well as art, antiques and coins. In addition, we advise on the liquidation of collections of all kinds, handle estates and executorships.

As a traditional auction house, we conduct our auctions in public. Senior partner Franz Eppli and Ferdinand B. Eppli are publicly appointed and sworn auctioneers by the state capital Stuttgart. Today we are one of the largest auction houses in Southern Germany.

Time for real values – time for you! We look forward to your visit.

EPPLI purchases

Entrust us with your valuables: Whether gold, jewelry, precious stones, art or luxury fashion. Our experts will always advise you professionally and evaluate your valuables.

EPPLI evaluates

Equipped with the latest gemmological equipment and extensive know-how, we can examine and evaluate your loose colored gemstones, diamonds and pearls in our in-house gemstone laboratory.

EPPLI sells

Are you looking for a very special vintage treasure? At Bärenstraße 6–8 in Stuttgart you can discover wonderful watches and jewelry. In the branch at Schlossplatz (Castle Square) in Königsbau (the ancient Kings' Building), on the other hand, you will find vintage designer fashion and accessories. Are you interested in art and paintings, as well as coins and stamps? Then our auction hall in Leinfelden-Echterdingen (near Stuttgart Airport) is the place for you.

EPPLI lends

You can entrust us with your valuables as collateral to secure your liquidity in the short term or to bridge financial bottlenecks. In the discreet atmosphere of our valuation center, we evaluate your valuables and provide information on the possible amount of the instant loan. Trustworthy immediate and uncomplicated.

EPPLI auctions

Jewelry lovers, collectors and investors alike are attentive participants in our public auctions. Five times a month, we auction off your valuables from all categories. We are your reliable partner and ensure that you receive the optimal price for your treasure.

EPPLI helps with inheritance and bequest

Ensure lasting family peace with a carefully planned estate. Our business includes the execution of wills, partition and dissolution. We support you with our many years of expertise in the realistic valuation of all your valuables.

EPPLI makes jewelry

You want to get the best out of an old piece of jewelry and give it new life? With a custom fabrication, we create a unique new favorite piece according to your wishes, using the components of the old jewelry.

Eppli jeweler

The insider tip
for individual jewelry

Between the market square and the market hall, opposite the Eppli auction house in Bärenstrasse, you will find rarities and fine jewelry of the highest quality.

Hubertus Drabarczyk vel Grabarczyk, managing director of the jeweler at Eppli, is a gemologist and a proven expert in antique jewelry, jewels and gemstones. His many years of experience enable him to give his customers excellent advice in a pleasant and relaxed atmosphere when it comes to unique pieces of jewelry.

From many thousands of pieces of jewelry that pass through the hands of Eppli experts, he selects the most interesting objects and the finest gemstones.

Set diamonds receive an international expertise and can thus be offered significantly below the jeweler's price.

Remodel, remake, repair or sell after all?

Precious jewels are associated with occasions and memories. Skilfully cut gemstones, designed into very special, unique pieces of jewelry, should suit their future wearer or owner. For individual productions our master goldsmith is available from his own workshop and creates pieces of jewelry that inspire today and become collector's items tomorrow.

Here they take their time and live the tradition of the classic jeweler. Discretion is a matter of honor.
